European Institute of Foresight Research

Main changes (1)

- 1. Philippe has stepped down as CEO of The Destree Institute to devote himself to teaching at the universities of Paris, Reims and Mons. He now serves as President of The Destree Institute. The position of CEO is being held by a young lawyer: Thomas Deridder, who was a member of the Institute's Executive Foresight certificate in 2021.
- 2. Continuation of the Certificate in Operational Foresight: 100 to 120-hours course spread throughout the year, 4 hours every Monday afternoon with a dozen high-level speakers.
- 3. Occasional in-company training on foresight and missions carried out by the Wallonia Policy Lab on the market to ensure the independence of the research centre (in the fields of health, independent companies, competitive clusters, particularly in the agri-food sector, and the administration of social cohesion). The biggest of these was Odyssey 2068 for business leaders, which brought together more than 700 actors and experts face to face.
- 4. Continuation of a wide-ranging foresight mission for the Government of Wallonia, with the establishment of an independent College to prepare policy recommendations for 2024 and 2029 based on a 2050 foresight horizon. The College is made up of around twenty young people under the age of 35, mostly women, appointed by political parties, trade unions, environmental associations, major government departments, employers' associations and authorities. Use of the MP work on AI.

Main changes (2)

- 5. Participation with a number of European experts, including Cornelia Daheim, in the Mutual Learning Foresight for Research and Innovation exercise (MLE), with seminars in Lisbon, Bucharest, Prague and Brussels. Production of reports for the European Commission (DG Research) in the framework of Horizon Europe.
- 6. Follow up to cooperation with the National Engeneering School of the University of Tunis (Jelel Ezzine) for Foresight and Roadmaps in Master Research in Science, Technology & Innovation Policy and scenarios on Tunisia 2050.
- 7. Production of a series of forward-looking analyses on international issues with different conferences: Russia-NATO, Russia-Europe, federalism in Iraq, etc. Presentation of a paper about Heuristics in Foresight at the Congress of Sciences held in Namur, August 2023. All the more reason to evoke the work of the Millennium Project.
